Dr. Walter S. Haines, professor of toxicology at Rush medical college, Chicago, was called to the stand by the defense upon the convening of court in the afternoon. He testified that on May 27, 1908, he received from Coroner Mack of Laporte three sealed jars, in one of which was the stomach of Andrew Helgelein. In another were three stomachs and in the third the contents of another stomach. Dr. Haines testified that he found arsenic and strychnine in the Helgelein stomach. He said he examined a third of the stomach and found one-third of a grain of strychnine. Altogether there must have been three times as much poison as as would be necessary

The witness was then asked regarding to three stomachs in one jar. These were the stomachs taken from

MOB LYNCHES THREE NEGROES

Another Tragedy Enacted Near Reelfoot Lake.

HAD SHOT DOWN OFFICERS

Posse Took Their Trail, Captured Them, Placed Them in Jail at Tiptonville, Tenn .- Mob Quickly Gathered and as Soon as the Negroes Had Been Tried, Found Guilty and Sentenced to Death, Took Them From Courtroom and Hanged Them.

Union City, Tenn., Nov. 25 .- The little town of Tiptonville, bordering on Reelfoot lake, which has been the scene of many stirring incidents the past month, witnessed the lynching of three negroes who were arrested for murdering Special Deputy Sheriff Richard Burruss and fatally wounding John Hall, a deputy sheriff. The negroes names are:

Marshall Stineback, Edward Stineback and Jim Stineback.

The three brothers created a dis-Tiptonville Saturday night. When the two officers attempted to arrest them a fight ensued in which the negroes were victorious and made their escape. It was barely daylight Sunday morning before a posse of citizens from Tiptonville and surrounding country was in pursuit of the negroes. but they successfully eluded the white men until Tuesday morning, when they were surrounded and captured in a swamp near the village of Ridgley. The vicinity is known as the old river bed canebrake and it is difits tangles. Once captured, however, the negroes, covered by 100 guns, were quickly landed in jail at Tiptonville. The negroes, when arrested, had two guns in their possession, but stated that he could not say that the had run out of ammunition.

Mob Quickly Gathered.

The news of the capture spread rapidly to the surrounding territory and in addition to the posse, men began arriving by every road and soon reported, but the property loss will after death is not usually the poison the jail was surrounded by a mob, be larger than anticipated. The known which had no hesitancy in threatening a lynching.

In fact, it was feared that the best efforts of the officers and townspeople not state whether the poison had been could not prevent the lynching from taking place in broad daylight. Prominent citizens urged the mob not to lynch the negroes, but their efforts were unavailing.

As a last resort S. J. Caldwell, a townsman, and Sheriff Haynes went before Justice Lee Davis and explained the situation, telling of the menacing attitude of the crowd, which thronged the principal streets leading In rebuttal the state called Austin to the jail. Justice Davis at once agreed to open his court, summon a morgue the bodies of Mrs. Gunness jury of twelve men and allow the negroes, after all evidence that could be adduced was heard, to be duly sentenced to death.

Meanwhile Governor Patterson was used formaldehyde and about fifteen advised by telephone of the situation and ordered a company of militia in this city to proceed with all haste and if possible, secure the negroes and conduct them to a place of safety. The troops were started at once, but failed to arrive in time to prevent the state. He was asked several hypo-lynching.

Many injured whose names are not known, are also reported at Hunts ville, Mena and Clarksville.

First reports, which were to the effect that the tornado was most severe at Piney, were not substantiated. Later reports showed that no one was killed at that place.

Interesting Development in Connection With It Expected.

Pittsburg, Nov. 25.-Interesting developments are expected soon in the alleged swindling scheme which recently resulted in the arrest of J. Montefiore Meyers, now in charge of the New York authorities, and John A. and W. A. Fitzpatrick, now in charge of the Wilkesbarre, Pa., police. Two other men, B. F. McCarty and Allen G. McDonald, are now wanted by the police of this city and Wilkesbarre. McCarty is believed to ald, it is said, has been located in this

As the investigation into the operations of the men progresses the police say it is more evident that one of the most gigantic swindling schemes in the history of the country had been about perfected.

The timely arrest of Meyers and the Fitzpatrick brothers effectively broke up the plan.

ITALIANS INDIGNANT

Show Intense Resentment Against Austria and Her People.

Rome, Nov. 25.-Italians are show ing resentment against Austria and Austrians because of the anti-Italian riots which have taken place at against Italian students in that city and a number of the students have been wounded.

Violent demonstrations have taken place in several of the leading towns Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 25 .- Reports and cities in Italy in the way of retack against the Austrian embassy was prevented only by the energetic attitude of the police and a guard of soldiers and many arrests were made amid cries of "down with Austria"

This renders more difficult the position of the Italian government as a member with Austria of the triple alliance in the Balkan controversy. A number of interpellations on this subject will be made in the chamber of deputies and the anti-Austrian feeling is now so widespread that it has greatly endangered the good relations between the two countries.

MAY NOT APPEAR THIS WEEK

Carnegie Not Likely to Testify Before Congressional Committee.

New York, Nov. 25 .- Andrew Carnegie apparently will not appear this week at the hearing in Washington by the ways and means committee on the iron and steel schedules of the tariff. He said he had replied by mail to the committee's invitation to go to Washington and give them the benefit of his new tariff views, but while he was willing to give out this information, yet he refused to disclose the nature of his reply, saying he thought such action on his part would be disccurteous to the committee. If the letter carried a refusal to attend the hearings the decision could not have been due to the state of Mr. Carnegie's health, for his secretary said for him that he was completely recovered from the indisposition which prevented his keeping an engagement in Baltimore Monday night. The committee's invitation to Mr. Carnegie was for Wednesday or Friday. On the latday Mr. Carnegie has a dinner engagement with old associates in the telegraph service and other old-time telegraphers, who on that night are to give him a banquet in honor of his seventy-third birthday anniversary.

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these inerves—re-establish them as needed, with

GEN. SHERIDAN HONORED TODAY

Washington Sees Unveiling of His Statue.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

Mr. Roosevelt Eulogizes Career of "Fighting Phil" In Civil War Battles and In Fights With Indians. Monument Shows General at Close of Famous Ride to Cedar Creek From Winchester, "Twenty Miles Away."

Washington, Nov. 25.-In one of the most beautiful parts of the national capital he helped to save, the magnificent equestrian statue of General Philip H. Sheridan was unveiled today. Among the throng of notable persons who gathered to do honor to the memory of the great soldier were the president of the United States, who delivered an address; the army and navy officers resident or stationed in and near Washington, the heads of the executive branches of the government, diplomatic representatives of foreign countries and others of note.

The statue stands in Sheridan circle, named after the general, at the junction of Massachusetts avenue and Twenty-third street. It is the heart of one of the best residence sections of the national capital.

The universal opinion of those who witnessed the unveiling today is that the statue of the famous cavalry leader is a worthy memorial of his fame. It represents the general at the close of his famous ride when, coming from Winchester, "twenty miles away," he rallied his men at the battle of Cedar Creek and turned their rout by the Confederate General Jubal A. Early into a Federal victory.

In all history we have no greater instance of subordination of self, of the exalting of a lofty ideal over merely material well being among the people of a great nation, than was shown by our own people in the civil war.

It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that came into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is as good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper-no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for. Don't buy

MOB LYNCHES THREE NEGROES

HAD SHOT DOWN OFFICERS

Posse Took Their Trail, Captured Them, Placed Them in Jail at Tiptonville, Tenn .- Mob Quickly Gathered and as Soon as the Negroes Had Been Tried, Found Guilty and Sentenced to Death, Took Them From Courtroom and Hanged Them.

Union City, Tenn., Nov. 25 .- The little town of Tiptonville, bordering on Reelfoot lake, which has been the scene of many stirring incidents the past month, witnessed the lynching of three negroes who were arrested for murdering Special Deputy Sheriff Richard Burruss and fatally wounding John Hall, a deputy sheriff. The negroes names are:

Marshall Stineback, Edward Stineback and Jim Stineback.

The three brothers created a disturbance at a religious meeting near Tiptonville Saturday night. When the two officers attempted to arrest them a fight ensued in which the negroes were victorious and made their escape. It was barely daylight Sunday morning before a posse of citizens from Tiptonville and surrounding country was in pursuit of the negroes, but they successfully eluded the white men until Tuesday morning, when they were surrounded and captured in a swamp near the village of Ridgarched. The body frequently assumes were quickly landed in jail at Tiptonville. The negroes when arrested had two guns in their possession, but

Mob Quickly Gathered.

The news of the capture spread rapidly to the surrounding territory and in addition to the posse, men began arriving by every road and soon the jail was surrounded by a mob, which had no hesitancy in threatening a lynching.

In fact, it was feared that the best efforts of the officers and townspeople could not prevent the lynching from taking place in broad daylight. Prominent citizens urged the mob not to lynch the negroes, but their efforts were unavailing.

As a last resort S. J. Caldwell, a townsman, and Sheriff Haynes went before Justice Lee Davis and explained the situation, telling of the menacing attitude of the crowd, which In rebuttal the state called Austin to the jail. Justice Davis at once agreed to open his court, summon a jury of twelve men and allow the neadduced was heard, to be duly sentenced to death.

Two children are reported to have been killed near Mena.

Fourteen are reported to have been killed near Mulberry, ten of whom, the reports say, were members of one family. They were killed in their

Many injured whose names are not known, are also reported at Huntsville, Mena and Clarksville.

First reports, which were to the effect that the tornado was most severe at Piney, were not substantiated. Later reports showed that no one was killed at that place.

Interesting Development in Connection With It Expected.

Pittsburg, Nov. 25.-Interesting developments are expected soon in the alleged swindling scheme which recently resulted in the arrest of J. Montefiore Meyers, now in charge of the New York authorities, and John A. and W. A. Fitzpatrick, now in charge of the Wilkesbarre, Pa., police. Two other men, B. F. McCarty and Allen G. McDonald, are now wanted by the police of this city and Wilkesbarre. McCarty is believed to have fled to New York, while McDonald, it is said, has been located in this

As the investigation into the operations of the men progresses the police say it is more evident that one of the most gigantic swindling schemes in the history of the country had been about perfected.

The timely arrest of Meyers and the Fitzpatrick brothers effectively broke up the plan.

ITALIANS ARE INDIGNANT

Show Intense Resentment Against Austria and Her People.

Rome, Nov. 25 .- Italians are showing resentment against Austria and Austrians because of the anti-Italian riots which have taken place at Vienna. These have been directed against Italian students in that city and a number of the students have been wounded.

place in several of the leading towns and cities in Italy in the way of retaliation and at the demonstrations here flery speeches were made and the Austrian flag was burned. An at tack against the Austrian embassy was prevented only by the energetic attitude of the police and a guard of soldiers and many arrests were made amid cries of "down with Austria."

This renders more difficult the position of the Italian government as a member with Austria of the triple alliance in the Balkan controversy. A number of interpellations on this subject will be made in the chamber of deputies and the anti-Austrian feeling is now so widespread that it has greatly endangered the good relations between the two countries.

Carnegie Not Likely to Testify Before Congressional Committee.

New York, Nov. 25 .- Andrew Carnegie apparently will not appear this week at the hearing in Washington by the ways and means committee on the iron and steel schedules of the tariff. He said he had replied by mail to the committee's invitation to go to Washington and give them the benefit of his new tariff views, but while he was willing to give out this information, yet he refused to disclose the nature of his reply, saying he thought such action on his part would be disccurteous to the committee. If the letter carried a refusal to attend the hearings the decision could not have been due to the state of Mr. Carnegie's health, for his secretary said for him that he was completely recovered from the indisposition which prevented his keeping an engagement in Baltimore Monday night. The committee's invitation to Mr. Carnegie was for Wednesday or Friday. On the latday Mr. Carnegie has a dinner engagement with old associates in the telegraph service and other old-time telegraphers, who on that night are to give him a bauquet in honor of his seventy-third birthday anniversary.

Lack of Plentiful Supply of Farm Produce Delayed Duluth Steel Plant

"The idea that the development of the Cuyuna iron range means that the farms of Crow Wing county are to be abandoned or neglected is erroneous. Not only should the iron excitement or mining industry fail to induce any farmer to become dissatisfied with farming, but it should cause him redouble his efforts to develop and improve his farm." So said Mr. Chapman at the Ransford Saturday evening. Mr. Chap man went on to state that when the matter of building a steel plant at Duluth was first broached Charles Schwab retired it on the grounds that there was not a large enough local supply of vegetables etc, raised there and that if they all had to be shipped in living would be so costly that it would be impossible to profitably operate the plant. The commercial club of Duluth took the matter in hand and in a short time was able to guarantee a sufficient supply of produce.

Such will be the case in Crow Wing county. If there are to be thousands and tens of thousands of men at work in and around the iron mines it will be absolutely necessary that there be vegetables, butter and eggs for them to live on and Crow Wing county must produce these. Mr. Chapman stated at the institute that the wholesale dealers of Duluth, when asked what to adat good prices for all the table carrots, rutabages, table beets, onions, corn, etc., that could possibly be raised.

Heart strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why as a medicine, Dz. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these inerves—re-establish them as needed, with

GEN. SHERIDAN HONORED TODAY

Washington Sees Unveiling of His Statue.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

Mr. Roosevelt Eulogizes Career of "Fighting Phil" In Civil War Battles and In Fights With Indians. Monument Shows General at Close of Famous Ride to Cedar Creek From Winchester, "Twenty Miles Away."

Washington, Nov/ 25.-In one of the most beautiful parts of the national capital he helped to save, the magnificent equestrian statue of General Philip H. Sheridan was unveiled today. Among the throng of notable persons who gathered to do honor to the memory of the great soldier were the president of the United States, who delivered an address; the army and navy officers resident or stationed in and near Washington, the heads of the executive branches of the government, diplomatic representatives of foreign countries and others of note.

The statue stands in Sheridan circle, named after the general, at the junction of Massachusetts avenue and Twenty-third street. It is the heart of one of the best residence sections of the national capital.

The universal opinion of those who witnessed the unveiling today is that the statue of the famous cavalry leader is a worthy memorial of his fame. It represents the general at the close of his famous ride when, coming from Winchester, "twenty miles away," he rallied his men at the battle of Cedar Creek and turned their rout by the Confederate General Jubal A. Early into a Federal victory.

The sculptor of the statue, Gutzon Borglum of New York, has caught to the life the expression of the general's face, according to Mrs. Sheridan and her son, Lieutenant Philip H. Sheridan. The horse is the largest piece of bronze ever cast in a single piece in this country and perhaps in the world. More than 6,000 pounds of liquid bronze were poured into the mold to form the horse. The casting was done at a foundry near Providence, R. I.

Preceding the unveiling of the statue there was a military parade in which all the regular troops, sailors and marines stationed in and near Washington as well as the national guard of the District of Columbia took part.

In addition to President Roosevelt's speech an address was delivered by General Horace Porter, who was chief of staff to General Grant and is president of the Grant Monument association. The principal address was delivered by President Roosevelt, who eulogized General Sheridan's army career both in the civil war and in the fighting on the western plains with the Indians. The president's address was as follows:

The President's Address.

It is eminently fitting that the nation's illustrious men, the men who loom as heroes before the eyes of our people, should be fittingly commemorated here at the national capital, and I am glad indeed to take part in the unveiling of this statue to General Sheridan. His name will always stand high on the list of American worthies. Not only was he a great general, but he showed his greatness with that touch of originality which we call genius. Indeed, this quality of brilliance has been in one sense a disadvantage to his reputation, for it has tended to overshadow his solid ability. We tend to think of him only as the dashing cavalry leader, whereas he was in reality not only that, but also a great commander. Of course the fact General Sheridan shown in the statue in his career most readily recognized was his mastery in the necessarily worn by him. He is depicted wearing modern art of handling masses of a service uniform, with sword and modern cavalry so as to give them the fullest possible effect not only in the ordinary operations of cavalry which stands on a plinth of granite. The precede and follow a battle, but in the upper part of the statue's base is battle itself. But in addition he showrough, indicating the earth torn up by ed in the civil war that he was a first class army commander both as a subordinate of Grant and when in independent command. His record in the Valley campaign and again from Five rorks to Appomattox is one dimeult to parallel in military history. After the close of the great war, in a field where there was scant glory to be won by the general in chief, he rendered a signal service which has gone almost unnoticed, for in the tedious, weary Indian wars on the great plains it was he who developed in thoroughgoing fashion the system of campaigning in winter which, at the cost of bitter hardship and peril, finally broke down the banded strength of those formidable warriors, the horse Indians.

General's Career Eulogized.

His career was typically American. for from plain beginnings he rose to the highest military position in our land. We honor his memory itself. and, moreover, as in the case of the other great commanders of his day. his career symbolizes the careers of all those men who in the years of the nation's direct need sprang to the front to risk everything, including life itself, and to spend the days of their strongest young manhood in valorous conflict for an ideal. Often we Americans are taunted with having only a material ideal. The empty folly of the taunt is sufficiently shown by the presence here today of you men of the Grand Army, you the comrades of the dead general, the men who served with and under him. In all history we have no greater instance of subordination of self, of the exalting of a lofty ideal over merely material well being among the people of a great nation, than was shown by our own people in the civil war.

There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.
